

Catalyst for the production of methyl mercaptan from methanol and hydrogen sulfide

Abstract

- 5 The invention relates to a catalyst for the synthesis of methyl mercaptan from hydrogen sulfide and methanol and to a process for preparing methyl mercaptans. The catalyst comprises active aluminum oxide on which an alkali metal tungstate and ammonium salts have been deposited.